"While thus engaged on work so fine,
Where skill and patience must combine,
How oft the thought must pain the heart,
That after all your care and art,
The handsome work that charms the eye
Ere long must soiled and ruined lie."

"Oh, no; you make a great mistake,
As no such thought our rest can break;
For should there come a soil or stain,
No ruin follows in their train;
However deep or dark they show,
The IVORY SOAP can make them go,
And all the brilliancy restore
And perfect beauty as before."

Governor Hill of New York.

HE MAKES A RINGING DEMOCRATIC SPEECH.

Governor Hill was serenaded on Thursday night of last week at Albany, N. Y., by an immense gathering of democrats, to whom he spoke as follows:

"FELLOW CITIZENS:—Words are inadquate to express my appreciation of your courtesy in tendering me this magnificent serenade. For your kind congratulations upon this occasion you will please accept my heartfelt thanks. I am grateful to the people of the state upon the renewed expression of their confidence in summoning me for the second time to accept the high and honorable position of chief executive of the Empire state. Especialiy is my profound acknowledgment due to the citizens of Albany, who, without distinction of party, gave me such a flattering and enthusiastic support. Permit me to observe, in passing, that I shall ever remember with pleasant associations connected with my official residence among the hospitable people of this ancient capital city.

"Enough! The new government and perhaps the majorities of the two houses, are pledged not only to the present high tariff, but an augmentation of it according to the republican senate bill, which will prove a pyramid of taxation that the world has never seen before. How far such a policy will prevail can only be solved when it is put in force. All prophecies must in this strange country be futile. When forty years ago the stubborn and short-sighted slavery oligarchy insisted on not only repealing the Missouri compromise but trying to plant slavery in the territories, they doomed their cause as much as did Nero doom the cause of the temples of Jupiter and Venus when he lighted his golden palace with the Christian martyrs of whom he made torches. It is the insolence of pride and oppression that goes before destruction.

"History repeats itself. The monopoly of oligarchy is simply repeating the folly of the slavery oligarchy of forty years ago. Thank God, an economic revolution is not subject to bloodshed. But that there will be an economic revolution of such intensity that will deluge this land with bankruptcies and ruin for years is as clear as the sun at noonday.

"I do not affect to conceal my gratification over the result of the 'gubernatorial contest in this state. Our opponents unwisely entered upon a campaign of personal detraction, and they now discover their mistake. The time has passed when such weapons of political warfare can accomplish much among the intelligent and discerning people of a great state like ours. The people are opposed to vilification, to hypocrisy and sham, and prefer fairplay and frankness in politics as well as in business. I have no unkind words or personal views to express upon this occasion concerning the violent opposition which I encountered in some quarters, except to say that I was unquestionably fortunate in my enemies. Always conscious of my personal and official rectitude and of my loyalty and devotion to the democratic party and to its candidates and principles, I awaited the verdict of the people with an abiding faith and an unshaken confidence in the result.

THE NATIONAL DEFEAT.

"Our success in the gubernatorial contest is marred, however, by the shadow of national disaster. In common with every true democrat, I greatly regret the defeat of President Cleveland in the state and in the union. He deserved better at the hands of the people of this country. Honest, brave and courageous, he gallantly led his party in the great contest for tariff reform and suffers defeat owing to the false clamor, unjust prejudices, unfair representations and the gigantic and combined efforts of all the monopolists of the country. He did his duty as he understood it, regardless of personal or political considerations, and he should have been sustained by the taxpayers, consumers and masses of the people, whose true interests he desired to subserve and whose rights he unselfishly endeavored to maintain.

TARIFF REFORM.

"It is not necessary or profitable to inquire whether the issue which he so boldly made might not more wisely have been earlier presented or postponed to a later period. It is sufficient to say that as the trusted leader of the democratic party, after a full and careful consideration of the whole subject he deemed that the best and truest interests of the country required that the issue should be made at this crisis, and with that patriotic and deliberate conclusion, when once reached, there should have been prompt acquiescence.

"The principle of tariff reform has only met with temporary defeat. Sooner or later it will ultimately triumph in this country. President Cleveland and the democratic party were right and deserved to succeed. The argument was with us, and two weeks' longer discussion would have given us the victory. Permit me to suggest that there must be no back track taken upon this question. The issue by President Cleveland in the interest of the whole people must not be abandoned. Our flag has be nailed to the mast, and there it must remain. Temporary disaster must not be permitted to discourage us in our unselfish efforts to relieve the people from unjust and unnecessary taxation. Temporary expedients will only endanger or postpone our final triumph. Let us steadfastly adhere to the principle of tariff reform and the clouds that now obscure our pathway will soon pass away.

SO COURAGEOUSLY PRESENTED

"President Lincoln once said: 'You may deceive part of the people all the time and all the people part of the time, but no party can deceive all the people all the time. Our opponents will soon discover the truth of this statement. They will be obliged to abandon their own national platform because it was too radical. Their own senate tariff bill was a partial abandonment of it and further departures are inevitable. The democratic party did not favor free trade, and will not hereafter favor it. The people must not be permitted to misunderstand our position, but from this time forward let us continue the discussion of this question till it is fully comprehended by every intelligent elector in the country."

STATE ISSUES.

In closing Governor Hill said: "Permit me to observe that our victory upon state issues means that the people of this state are opposed to illiberal and unjust sumptuary legislation and favor a just and equitable excise law rigorously enforced. They want uniform excise legislation, applicable alike in all parts of the state. They demand that excise revenues, like all other proper local revenues, should go into local treasuries rather than into the treasury of the state. The people are opposed to hypocritical 'temperance' legislation, so called, not honestly designed to subserve the cause of true temperance, but intended only for political effect."

Stop Election Debauchery.

It is possible that political debauchery controlled the late Presidential election; but if it did, it was not for want of equal effort to debauch voters by the defeated party. If debauchery won, it was simply because Quay possessed greater skill or resources, or both, than Barnum could command; for both sides did all that was possible to control the result by corruption funds. It is possible that corrupt efforts, gigantic as they were, so nearly equalled themselves in both parties that the result was not decided by debauchery; but the fact remains that debauchery was the rule in every debatable State, and that Indiana was an open auction for individual votes.

Is this great and steadily growing political debauchery to continue? If so, it will logically increase with each national contest, for a state or a voter once controlled by corruption funds will not only always be in open market but debauchery will rapidly spread among the people and require increased corruption funds for every contest. And it is idle to preach morality to party leaders. While religious and moral zealots will freely contribute money for political debauchery, leaders will commend it and rival voters will offer their votes in the market-place. The evil, now colossal in its proportions can be overthrown only by tearing up the whole system of Presidential elections by States.

And why should not the people of the United States vote directly for President and Vice President, from Maine to California, and the candidates receiving the highest popular vote be declared elected? It is in perfect harmony with the theory of popular government and why allow the expression of the people to become the plaything of Electoral Colleges? It is not pretended that Presidential Electors exercise any discretion in voting for President and Vice President. They were originally intended to exercise an intelligent and dispassionate judgment in voting for the two first offices of the Republic, but now and ever since the retirement of Washington, Presidential Electors have been as positive partisans as ward heelers, and the whole theory on which the Electoral College was based, perished before the advent of the present century.

Four years ago Grover Cleveland received a popular majority over James G. Blaine of 62,000, and yet a change of 600 votes in New York would have made Blaine President. This year Benjamin Harrison will have a popular majority over Grover Cleveland of probably 50,000, and yet a change of 6,000 votes in New York State would have re-elected Cleveland. In 1884 the 81,000 majority for Blaine in Pennsylvania had much less voice in deciding the Presidential contest than the 1,100 majority for Cleveland in New York; and now the 70,000 majority for Harrison in this state is much less potential than the probable 10,000 majority in the Empire State. Less than 400 votes give Cleveland 6 Electoral votes in Connecticut and 30,000 votes give Harrison only 4 Electoral votes in Vermont. In Texas 120,000 votes give Cleveland 13 Electoral votes, and probably less than 5,000 votes give Harrison 15 Electoral votes in Indiana.

It is this cumbrous and senseless electoral system that invites the debauchery of voters in every close State, and it is also a constant menace to the popular will in the election of a President. It should be promptly abolished as the fruitful parent of electoral crimes and as the most threatening of all the present perils to free government. If the people of every State and Territory were authorized to vote directly for their favorite candidates for President and Vice President, with the assurance that the candidates receiving the largest number of votes would be declared elected, the debauchery of close States would end at once. What could it matter then whether New York, Connecticut, Indiana, West Virginia or California gave a few thousand more or less for a particular candidate? A majority in a particular State would be of no practical moment, and the missions of the professional corrupter of voters and of professional traders in votes would end. Is this not the true and safe way for a free government to elect its rulers?

A direct vote for President and Vice President would not only end the now great and steadily growth in debauchery of close States, but it would end all apprehensions of dispute as to the election.

The closest popular vote in all our Presidential elections since the organization of the government was in 1880, when Garfield received about 7,000 popular majority over Hancock. In all other contests from Washington down to the battle of 1888, the popular majority has been so decided that none could attempt to assail it. Another strong reason for abandoning the Electoral College is in the fact that it has twice defeated candidates to whom the people gave decidedly the largest vote. Jackson was defeated in 1824 when he had 50,000 majority over Adams, and Tilden was defeated in 1876 when the people had voted against Hayes by 250,000 majority.

Is it not time to end the appalling political debauchery of the present age and end all peril to the popular will, by abolishing the Electoral College and allowing the people to elect President and Vice President by a direct vote? —Times

A lady tourist on Pike's Peak was struck by lightning at the very top of the mountain away above the clouds from which the bolt proceeded.

A Hawk Attacks A Man.

ROCKLAND, Pa., Nov. 10.—James P. Schaeffer of this place had a remarkable experience with a chicken hawk a few days ago. He was driving along the road, and had seen the hawk sailing about high in the air for some time. Finally he noticed that the bird was rapidly descending, and, supposing that it was dropping down on prey of some kind, stopped his team to watch the result of the attack.

Whether the hawk concluded that Schaeffer was there to antagonize it in its efforts to get a dinner, and determined to resent interference, Schaeffer is not able to explain, but he was not long in discovering that he himself was the object of the big bird's attack. It swooped down upon him with terrible fierceness, struck at him savagely with both beak and talons, and then alighted on the ground at the roadside, where it put itself in unmistakable fighting position.

Schaeffer was greatly surprised at this attack, but, supposing that it wouldn't be much of a trick to whip a chicken hawk, he got out of his wagon. He had scarcely placed his feet on the ground when the hawk rushed at him, half flying and half running. Schaeffer met the bird with a vigorous kick in the breast, but that only had the effect of adding to its rage. The man quickly made up his mind that he had met an antagonist a little tougher than he had counted on, and, grabbing a stick from the roadside, went into the fight in earnest.

Before Schaeffer could effectively use his club on the fierce and active hawk it had ripped his clothes with its talons as if the rents had been made with a sharp knife, and laid the flesh open in great gashes on his face, legs and shoulders. At last a lucky blow with the club stunned the bird, and before it could recover Schaeffer despatched it.

He was so badly hurt that he had to return home and get medical attendance. He is still housed up. The hawk measured nearly six feet from tip to tip of its wings, and Schaeffer says that he believes it would have got the best of him if he had not been lucky enough to find the club within his reach. Such a wild attack on a man by a hawk, a bird naturally shy of the human presence, is undoubtedly without a precedent.

A Baggage Master Rebuked.

M. QUAD TAKES A TRIP ON THE RAILROAD AND HAS A LITTLE FUN.

In going down to the Jersey coast by way of New York, or, rather by Jersey City, I reached that point trunkless. I went over the river and consulted the baggage agent, and after telegraphing to various points it was found that they had been left in the station at Buffalo. The baggageman there had three hours in which to get them aboard, but he had singled me out as a victim. Everybody else's trunks had come along, but mine had been held over for a test. I couldn't kick on a man 300 miles away, but I lay for him. All the while I was fishing and sailing I nursed my wrath to keep it warm, and six weeks later I walked in the baggage office at Buffalo. I had the documents to back me up, and I said:

"On July 22 I passed through here. I was ticketed to Jersey City straighter than a string, and before I left Detroit I saw that my checks were all right."

"Well?"

"Well you left my trunks right here for twenty-four hours."

"Quite likely."

"And now you must pay for your carelessness."

"What?"

"Here is a bill of expense made by your neglect of duty. There's $6 for three of us at a hotel over night. I paid an expressman seventy-five cents. I paid another the same. I had to hire a hack to carry me about in Jersey City, and that is twelve shillings more. The total expense is $9, to say nothing of my time and worry and a day lost."

"And you expect me to pay!"

"You'll either pay or I'll bring suit and send for the general baggage agent as a witness."

"Well, you are a crank!"

"No I am not. I simply kick when imposed upon. The road guaranteed to deliver me and my baggage in Jersey City at a certain hour all right unless accident prevented. There was no accident."

He stormed around for a while and then paid me, and I divided the money between two cripples at the door. He said I was the meanest man he ever saw, but it was a lesson he will never forget.

Another Woman Murdered.

THE WHITECHAPEL FIEND ADDS ONE MORE TO THE LIST.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The murder fiend has added added another to his list of victims. At 11 o'clock this morning the body of a woman cut into pieces was discovered in a house on Dorset street, Spitalfields. The police are endeavoring to track the murderer with the aid of bloodhounds. The remains were mutilated in the same horrible manner as were those of the other women murdered in Whitechapel.

The victim, like all the others, was a disreputable woman. She was married and her husband was a porter. They had lived together at spasmodic intervals. Her name is believed to have been Lizzie Fisher, but to most of the habitues of the haunts she was known as Mary Jane. She had a room in the house where she was murdered. She carried a latch key, and no one knows at what hour she entered the house last night, and probably no one saw the man who accompanied her. Therefore it is hardly likely that he will ever be identified. He might easily have left the house at any time between 1 and 6 o'clock this morning without attracting attention. The doctors who have examined the remains refuse to make any statement until the inquest is held.

The bloodhounds belonging to private citizens were taken to the place where the body lies and placed on the scent of the murderer, but they were unable to keep it for any great distance, and all hopes of running the assassin down with their assistance will have to be abandoned.

Ladies On Silent Steeds.

SOME OF PHILADELPHIA'S PROMINENT BELLES WHO RIDE TRICYLES.

An encouraging sign from a physical standpoint is the largely increasing number of women who are taking up those out-door sports in which health and pleasure go hand in hand. Perhaps the most beneficial sport is that of tricycling, and these crisp autumnal days are better than any other time of the year to enjoy a ride between the wheels. The women of America do not ride as much as their transatlantic sisters, but they are fast finding out that if they wish to compete with the English women in constitutional vigor they must lead a life into which open air athletic creations more largely enter. The advantages of the tricycle have only been realized in this country a few years, but in that time it has become wonderfully popular and every month finds a great increase in the number of lady tricycle riders.

In England, Queen Victoria, the Princess Louise, the Prince of Wales, two of his daughters, and hundreds of noble birth use the tricycle. In this country, Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, Rev. Geo. F. Pentecost, and Senator William M. Evarts were enthusiasts on the subject. President Cleveland, when in Buffalo, often used a friend's tricycle, and when he removed to Washington he was presented with one for his own use.

At the capital, many of the leading physicians now ride tricycles in making calls on their patients. Dr. Robert Reyburn, who was one of Garfield's surgical attendants; Dr. John Walter, of the Georgetown University, and Dr. J. Tiber Johnson, who was Charles Sumner's physician, all use them.

TRICYCLING IN PHILADELPHIA.

The growth of tricycling in this city has kept pace with the improvement of the thoroughfares. The asphalt streets have been great factors in this development and there are now between two and three hundred ladies who ride the wheels. This is not considered a bad showing for a city the streets of which are mostly paved with rough cobble-stones. Of this number some are regular members of the clubs.

The Philadelphia Bicycle Club leads with about twenty-five lady members, who have elegant quarters in a handsomely-appointed new club house near the Green street entrance to Fairmount Park. In this club the ladies who are most active in riding are Mrs. Charles Richardson, wife of the ex-president of the Land Title and Trust Company; Mrs. W. R. Tucker, whose husband is a prominent wheelman and a member of the Board of Port Wardens; Mrs. H. R. Lewis, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Bement, Mrs. Belfield. Mrs. Dr. Martin, Mrs. H. B. Hart, Mrs. Dr. Inglis, Mrs. McKeehan, Mrs. Lewis, and the Misses Crocker, Roberts, Murphy, Armbruster and Massey.

The Pennsylvania Bicycle Club has three lady members. They are Mrs. Worrell, Mrs. Elwell and Mrs. McDonnell. The Century wheelmen have none at present, but a number of ladies will join when they move into their new club house.

UP TOWN WHEELWOMEN.

There are numerous unattached riders in the northwestern section of the city, where the asphalt streets afford unequaled facilities for the enjoyment of the sport. In pleasant weather dozens of tricycles may be seen spinning along the smooth surface of Diamond street. In this locality are Mrs. McCutcheon, Mrs. Kirk Brown, Mrs. Sweeting and the Misses Kendall, Lingerman, Sadler, Bailey, Steppacher, Wanamaker and Key. Miss Maggie Zell, of Reading, is one of the most graceful riders in this locality. Mrs Connor, Mrs. Gideon, Mrs. Boorman and Miss Maltby live in Germantown and take quiet rides through the leafy lanes and pleasant roads of that beautiful suburb.

Mrs. Gideon and Mrs. Powell were at one time members of the Ladies' Tricycle Club, which was the first organization of its kind in the country. It was a premature effort and finally fell through, although since that time ladies' clubs have been organized and successfully carried on in Washington, Buffalo and other cities.

Tricycling had quite a boom at the seashore during the season. Many of the Philadelphia belles who summered at Atlantic City had their tricycles in constant use there. The tandem tricycle was strongly the favorite, and there were many fine riders among the ladies. Miss Belle Brinton, of North Broad street, was a most enthusiastic rider. Miss Emily Aldison and Miss Myra Steel were adepts at the sport. Mrs. James A. Harrison, who is well known in Philadelphia society, had her tandem in constant use. Miss Sarah Hall, Miss Susie Craig and Miss Bessie Baker took daily spins along the hard beach. The Misses Wallace, Spofford, Stoddard and Spaulding covered many miles. Miss Bessie Jessup, a handsome blonde; Miss Linda Howell and Miss Georgie Lippincott wore picturesque costumes and were expert riders.

COVERING A THOUSAND MILES.

Some of the ladies in and around this city have made some good records. Mrs. Johnson, of Orange, N. J., has ridden over a thousand miles during the season, one of her longest rides being 150½ miles, in company with her husband, on a tandem tricycle. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Lewis, of this city, spent the whole of last summer on a tour through Europe on a tricycle. They covered between one and two thousand miles.

Something new in the way of cyclic locomotion has been introduced. It is a safety bicycle for ladies. It is almost similiar to the ordinary bicycle except that the construction of the back-bone or connecting bar, which presented an insuperable difficulty to a woman in her ordinary wearing apparel; has been changed by curving it down and upwards in the shape of a figure 2. By this arrangement when a lady is seated upon the saddle with her feet on the pedals, there is nothing to prevent her dress from falling around her in a proper manner. There are four of these machines, which are of English origin, in this city. They are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hart, Mr. Cope and Mr. Tucker of Germantown.—*Phila. How to Live to a Good Old Age.

The first lesson to be taught and learned is:—that all disease is the result of broken law; that much of it might easily be avoided by the observance of the laws of health on the part of the individual; that much more, which is beyond the reach of individuals might be prevented by the combined efforts of communities and the state; and that those diseases which are entailed upon this generation by the law of heredity, might by obedience to law be gradually stamped out of existence, and future ages be freed from their curse.

The next thing to be taught is the laws themselves—and with the laws, and of even greater importance, the habit of obeying them. We know a great deal more than we put in practice. This is the fault of the common modes of health teaching. Our newspapers and periodical literature contains a vast deal of popular instruction in these matters. They are treated of in an abundance of well-written books which are within easy reach of all who care to read them. Our schools are taking hold of the good work, and instruction in hygiene is fast coming to be recognized as an essential of even an elementary education. But all these do not reach the evil, or if they do, they only touch it on the surface.

Our schools are full of good grammarians who do not use respectable English in common conversation. So, too, they may be full of glib reciters of the laws of health, who do not observe a single one of the laws they have learned. The main point is to secure obedience. The greatest criminals are usually well versed in the laws of the land; but their knowledge does not avail to keep them out of the penitentiary when they have broken these laws. Neither will a knowledge of the laws of health keep a man from being sick, so long as he does not live up to his knowledge. We are creatures of imitation. Example counts counts for more than precept. The parent knows the law, and the child knows it too. When the parent keeps it, then the children will keep it also. It does little good for a child to learn at school that the food should be properly masticated, when three times every day at home he sees a hungry group crowd about the table like pigs around a trough, and bolt their food as nearly whole as it can be made to go down. The child whose mother gives it a bite of something to eat every time it cries for it, will not be in a condition to profit from an understanding of the law that food should not be taken between meals, until it is too late for the knowledge to be of much service. The law of pure air and proper ventilation may be taught ever so plainly in the text-books, but to the boy who is brought up to sit and to sleep in a close, unventilated room, foul with the breath of living beings, and shun fresh air as he would a plague, the knowledge will be of little avail. While his father's cellar is filled with decaying meat, vegetables and all manner of filth, and the cesspool smells to heaven from beneath the kitchen window, all the teachings of the schools will not prevent his having typhoid fever, or diphtheria, or some form of filth disease, when the summer sun calls into activity the germs of disease which are latent there. If liquors are kept upon the sideboard and wines are served upon the table in his home, not all the teachings of all the temperance text-books in the land can be relied upon to produce in him habits of sobriety and total abstinence.

It is the practice of the principles of hygiene in our homes, and this alone, which will lessen the rate of disease and death to-day, and develop a stronger race to-morrow. The child who had learned the laws of health from his father and mother by seeing them continually and persistently applied, will come to follow them in his own case, as he will conduct himself properly in good society, if good society has been his birthright, and gentlemanly conduct has become habitual.—[Good Housekeeping.

The New Lien Law Set Aside.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the States given by Justice Williams in Pittsburg on Monday last sets aside the entire new lien law passed by the last Legislature on the broad ground that it is unconstitutional. The Legislature strangely omitted to recite the lien laws of 1836 and 1845 which it intended to amend, and that is so clearly in disregard of a positive mandate of the Constitution that the Supreme Court could do no less than declare the act null and void.

The effect of the decision of the Supreme Court will be to destroy all liens entered against properties by individual mechanics or material men dealing with sub contractors. Many such have been entered during the last year, instead of claiming and entering them only "on the basis of a contract, expressed or implied, with the owner and on the credit of the building," as the Supreme Court defines the rights; and all such liens will be valueless and the costs will fall upon those who entered them.

This decision of the court of last resort does not comprise the mechanics' liens of the State, except as they have been entered by individuals or dealers with sub contractors under the act of January 17, 1887. The acts of 1836 and 1845, with the judicial decisions made under them, remain in full force, and all liens entered by material men or mechanics in accordance with the old laws, as nine-tenths of all have been, are valid liens and fully protect parties in their claims.—Times.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1888.

Chairman Barnum, of the Democratic National Committee, has been very sick and his life was at one time despaired of but he is at present improving.

The latest news from West Virginia, give the state to Cleveland by 1000 majority. The democrats have elected three out of the four Congressmen. In Virginia, the official vote gives the state to Cleveland by nearly 4000, and elects eight democrats and four republicans to Congress. This narrows the election of Harrison down to New York state, which was carried by about 10,000 plurality. The fifty-first Congress will have a small democratic majority while the senate may be a tie.

Congressional Returns.

The return judges of the 17th district met at Sunbury on Tuesday. The following is the result:

	Buckalew.	Robison.
Columbia	4713	2505
Montour	1879	1329
Northumberland	6136	6491
Sullivan	1985	1031
	14613	11356
Buckalew's majority		2656

Kaseman received 139 votes in Columbia, and 197 in Northumberland.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 12, 1888.

Senator Gorman came from New York direct to Washington a day or two ago, and had a long conference with Mr. Cleveland, during which it is thought they went over the various rersons assigned for the democratic defeat. Mr. Cleveland takes the matter philosophically, and loses no opportunity to state his belief in the honest support given him by Govenor Hill and his friends in New York.

Said a prominent official yesterday:

During the next four years the cause of the disaster of last Tuesday will be stated as a thousand and one different things. I believe that it was caused by the position taken on the tariff question during the last two months of the campaign by the stump speakers of the party under orders from the National Committee. During the long discussion of the Mills bill in the house, its friends constantly denounced the protective tariff as legalized robery, and yet those same men were compelled to go on the stump and state that the Mills bill was a protective measure, because somebody had become panic-stricken at the cry of free trade. This action undoubtedly disgusted thousnds of voters who are believers in free and unrestricted trade with the world at large, and at the same time it did not attact any of the high protection voters. I am finally of the opinion that had the democratic speakers and newspapers accepted the challenge of the republicans and proclaimed themselves in favor of free trade as soon as it could be brought about without detriment to the required income of the Government, that Mr. Cleveland would have been triumphantly re-elected.

Many thousand men throughout the country who are pronounced free traders voted the republican ticket.

Why? Simply because they believe that the higher the tariff is made, the sooner the people will demand that it be removed altogether. There is food for thought in this view of the question.

Mr. Lamont, Mr. Cleveland's secretary, will go into the insurance business in New York city after the 4th of March. He is one of the most popular men that ever filled a similar position, and will carry with him the good wishes of everyone who has had business at the White House during this administration.

Mr. Dalton, postmaster of the House of Representatives, and an Indiana democrat for many years, says of the newly elected President: In six months there will be more complaining of Mr. Harrison by republicans than by democrats. Everything about it will be hightoned and honorable. Democrats and the people generally will have nothing to complain of. It will be a conservative administration, much more liberal than extremists would desire, and no man or clique of men can run Mr. Harrison. He will be the President. This will cause some heart burnings in his party. He is a civil service reformer, and is as firm as Cleveland. In this he will antagonize those of his party who will demand a clean sweep. Some of his party will wish a vigorous and oppressive policy in the South. They will be disappointed. He will adopt the most liberal southern policy any republican has ever thought of. He will treat the southern people well. I know the man. He is a republican, but he is not lacking in wisdom. His appointments in the South will all go to republicans.

He will not appoint a democrat to any office. He is too much of a partisan for that. But he will appoint no carpet-baggers; none of the rapscallions that have been placed over the Southern states before. Some of the border States are now very close. He will try to draw them into his party ranks. I think he will be with his party on the educational question, on the pension question, on the tariff, and all those issues. The picture that Mr Dalton has drawn is a brighter one than most democrats can see just at present, but we shall see later.

Already, before it is officially settled that the republicans will control the House of representatives, they are fighting among themselves about the House offices.

The country at large is to be complimented on the campaign just passed; it was entirely free from the disgusting personalities of '84, and the result has consequently left no bad blood. The democrats were beaten, but their leaders have no apologies to make; on the contrary, they insist that tariff reform shall continue as the motto of the party, and they express a confidence that long before 1892 a majority of the voters of the country will endorse the position taken by the democratic party in 1888.

There is a rumor floating around here to the effect that Harrison will call an extra session of the Fifty-first Congress early in March, for the ostensible purpose of passing a tariff bill, but in reality to admit all of the republican territories, in order to get the benefit of the additional Senators and Representatives.

What Next?

The burden of government will after March 4 next be transferred from the shoulders of the Democracy, which have born it so creditably for the last four years, to their Republican opponents; what will the latter do with it?

The Democracy, in reviewing the history of their first attempt at government upon their restoration to power have this to remember: The affairs of this nation have never been better administered nor has the government been so respected at home and abroad for a generation than under the care of Democracy and its honored President. Can Republicanism do better? Is there a reasonable hope that they will do so well? Let us see.

The Republican nominee for President is a man who has much to recommend him, as this paper pointed out at the time of his nomination. He was a soldier in the war for the Union and did good service for his country in the dark days of the slave-holder's rebellion. His private character and domestic relations are such that the public was saved a parade of unsavory scandals during the campaign; but who will deem him capable for instance of the moral courage which dictated the veto of the vicious and wholly indefensible dependent pension bill? Who would attribute to him even a fair share of the iron will and determination of Grover Cleveland?

Another and much more serious question confronts the American people, however. It is not so much the temporary postponement of the reform of our tariff, not the fact that the distinguished and honorable services of Grover Cleveland to the Republic have been dispensed with, nor yet the fact that the Democratic party has had to give way to its opponents. None of these are so vital as the question, "What are we to expect from General Harrison with James G. Blaine in virtual control and Mathew S. Quay and W. W. Dudley as his lieutenants? Has not the last campaign been a Blaine campaign, and were not the infamies of the Republican National Chairman and Treasurer well known and almost openly practiced?"

Very few men in history have improved the full measure of opportunities suddenly thrust upon them; Grover Cleveland, suddenly confronted with the great responsibility of the Presidency, sized up to the emergency in a way such as few men ever did; will General Harrison do as well? Will he resist Blaineism, Dudleyism, Mathew Stanley Quayism? Let us sincerely hope, for the sake of our native land, of public decency and national honor that he may.

The Evening Herald is a Democratic paper; it does not assume to be anything else; it does not ask for any popular approval which it cannot win by an earnest and conscientious support of what it believed to be real Democracy. It opposed General Harrison upon these broad grounds; yet this paper has no wish that he may not have an administration which shall at least throw no discredit upon his country. But it is as sure as fate that if the gang which ran the campaign for General Harrison get the reward which they as politicians expect, profligacy, shamelessness will be in the ascendant and falsehood and trickery be the ruling spirits of the national administration.—Phila. Evening Herald.

Give the Spook a Rest.

Now that the British bugaboo has played successfully its parts in the election, in exciting the fears of the ignorant and the animosities of the prejudiced, the country is entitled to a four year's rest from it.

To pretend, as the Protectionist organs do, that "British manufacturers are disappointed in the result," is to work the jack o'-lantern spook after the silly scare has been accomplished. As Mr. Gladstone has said, so long as the United States continue to tax the raw materials and machinery of their manufacturers, the English have no occasion to fear their competition. The foreign woolen manufacturers will continue to supply our boasted "home market" to the tune of $50,000,000 a year, because "the sheep voted" here against letting our manufacturers obtain the wool that is essential to compete with them.

England does not export wool, nor flax, nor lumber, nor the crude materials of manufacturers in general. She imports vast quantities of them, without enhancing their cost to her manufacturers by stupid and needless taxes. And she is thus enabled to beat the United States, not only in their own market, but in the other markets of the world.

A great many of the more ignorant farmers and workingmen have been deluded into voting straight for "British interests" by maintaining the handicap of the war tariff. They will see their folly in "four years more."—World.

Catarrh

May affect any portion of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, and the most liable to be neglected. It cannot be cured by local applications. Being a constitutional disease it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the catarrh, and soon effects a permanent cure. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system, and makes one feel renewed in strength and health. If you suffer from catarrh, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Ringing Noises Impure Blood

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house as I think it is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GINN, 1029 Eighth St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

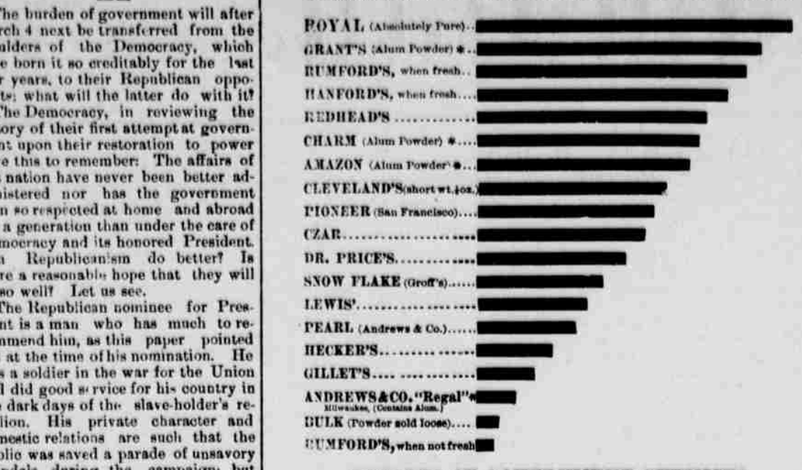
COMPARATIVE WORTH OF BAKING POWDERS.



REPORTS OF GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates, or other injurious substances. E. G. LOVE, Ph.D."

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. "H. A. MOTT, Ph.D."

"I have examined a package of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by myself in the market. I find it entirely free from alum, terra alba, or any other injurious substance. HENRY MORTON, Ph.D., President of Stevens Institute of Technology."

"I have analyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder. The materials of which it is composed are pure and wholesome. S. DANA HAYES, State Assayer, Mass."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at State Fairs throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic, and universal endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists, and Boards of Health all over the world.

NOTE—The above DIAGRAM illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Schedler. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each can calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Schedler only proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experience, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, and, besides, affords the advantage of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair minded person of these facts.

* While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be of a higher degree of strength than other powders ranked below them, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.

Personal.

J. G. Wells and D. L. Brown went to New York on Saturday, returning on Tuesday.

C. E. Reice was called to Philadelphia to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Scott. She was buried Sunday afternoon.

J. W. Perry, proprietor and landlord of the Elk Run House, Sugarloaf township, was in town Monday.

Prof. F. H. Jenkins, was summoned to his home in Chittenango, Tuesday, to attend the funeral of his mother.

Mr., Horatio Moore, of Nanticoke, and Mr. George Laycock, foreman of the Wilkes-Barre Record for several years past, have purchased the Nanticoke Sun. There is lots of room to grow in Nanticoke, and we hope the new firm will fill up the full measure. Mr. Hartman, the retiring proprietor, will engage in other business.—Shickshinny Echo. Mr. Laycock is a graduate of the Republican office and was formally a resident of this town. We wish him success.

A new tin roof has been put on the Wirt and Elwell buildings jointly.

A new lot of wedding invitations just received at the COLUMBIAN office.

An examination of teachers will be held at Light Street, Nov. 29.

After the parade Tuesday night the Berwick Band serenaded Mr. Buckalew and Mr. Ikeler.

Miss Dora Marr is prepared to do typewriting. She can be found at her home corner of Main and Iron Streets.

Rev. T. Pritchard of Phillipsburg, New Jersey, will deliver a lecture in the Light Street M. E. church Tuesday evening Nov. 20.

Stamping of all kinds done to order, New York's latest styles of pattern used. Rock Street, 2nd door below Market St., Bloomsburg. tf.

On our 2d page to-day will be found a striking and instructive illustration of the comparative worth of the various kinds of baking powders now in the market.

The weather prophets predict that the fall of snow the coming winter will be light because of the many heavy rain falls during the summer season.

In answer to the oft repeated question of the past few weeks, "What's the matter with Harrison?" we are forced to admit that there does'nt seem to be anything the matter with him just now.

The republicans had their final parade on Tuesday night. Lieutenant Spotts has been drilling them and they marched well. The Bloom Band and Grozers Band of Berwick were in the line.

It is said that yellow fever never attacks a cigarette smoker. The fever is thought to believe in fair and honest competition, and is perfectly willing that the cigarette should have its share of the victims.

If all the bets on the election in this town were known, and claimed by the Directors of Bloom Poor District, there would be no occasion for levying a poor tax here for the next year at least. Thousands of dollars changed hands.

W. A. Snyder has secured a situation in a large printing establishment in Wilkesbarre, which he entered this week. He has been in the COLUMBIAN office for three years and a half, and we regret to lose him, as he is a good workman and an excellent young man.

Sharpers have discovered that a handsome income is possible by traveling through the country and making complaint against farmers who do not comply with the law relative to the cutting down of Canada thistles. Half the penalty goes to the informer.

We went to press last week on Thursday morning before the official table of votes had been made up, and as the table was put in type on Wednesday, we were necessarily obliged to take some of the figures from unofficial sources. In this way a number of errors occurred in the table. The corrected vote appears this week.

List of letters remaining in P. O. at Benton for week ending Oct. 31st 1888.

Mr. John M. McNellon, Mr. Clay Jones, Mrs. Harriett A. McCloskey, Edward Osborne, E. H. Everts, Mr. Wm. H. Coldwell, Mrs. Pruella Albertson, Miss Alice H. Shultz, Miss Alphia Wells, Sussie Messenger.

Persons calling for these letters will please say advertised.

Ella Appleman, P. M.

The performance of the Rinehart-Delhauer company was given at the Opera House Monday night to a meagre audience, which was, however, well pleased with the entertainment, judging from the frequent outbursts expressive of approbation. The contortions of Delhauer, the "Human Frog," were most wonderful, and elicited round after round of hearty applause. The play was interspersed with good music and variety acts, and the performers were all good, making altogether an excellent performance.

Ex-commissioner Tripp and son Milo are erecting a large boarding house at Jameson city, Columbia county. The ex-commissioner gives a glorious account of the new town. Building lots are selling for $100 each and new manufacturing enterprises are constantly locating there. Jameson city like Lopez is destined to be our enterprising town in the near future.—Sullivan Republican.

The State Fishery Commissioners announce that German carp will be supplied to those citizens who may desire to have them for stocking ponds or streams. This offer should be largely accepted, as the carp is a fish that will thrive in waters where the trout and various other kinds cannot exist. It is not as fine a food fish as some others, but is far from being distasteful. The fact that it is such a rapid propagator of its species is one of the strongest reasons why farmers and others should give it attention.

GEORGE A. CLARK, P. M.

On July 1, 1888 the price of the COLUMBIAN was reduced to $1.00 a year. The paper is the largest in the county. At the reduced price it is necessary that we should have prompt payments. Every subscriber knows whether he owes anything on subscription, without being informed by a special dun. If all who owe would send in the money, they would save us the trouble and expense of sending bills by mail, and themselves the annoyance of being dunned. There are people who are always prompt in the payment of all their bills except newspaper subscription, and yet lose their tempers when reminded by the editor that he has furnished them with reading for a year or more without pay. The best way in the world to avoid a dun is to pay up.

The executors of the estate of W. N. Brown decd. will sell real estate in Mifflin twp. this county, on Thursday December 13, 1888. The first property is the homestead farm and contains 134 acres and 60 perches strict measure whereon are erected a brick dwelling house, bank barn and outbuildings; the farm is mostly cleared and under good cultivation. The second property is known as "Brown's Mills" being a grist and flouring mill and 46 acres of land together with a dwelling house, bank barn and outbuildings. These properties are convenient of access being about one mile from Creasy Station (Mifflinville) on the North & West Branch division of the Pennsylvania Railroad and are considered among the most desirable in this county.

Do you suffer with catarrh? You can be cured if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. Sold by all druggists.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, of a recent date, has a long article commenting on the Bloomsburg and Sullivan railroad, and among other things says: But there is another point still beyond. About ten miles above Central is Bernice, where the mines of the State Line and Sullivan Railroad are located. The coal mined there has been sent principally to Northern markets, as there was no direct Southern outlet. The coal passed North over the State Line and Sullivan Road to the Lehigh Valley, and found its chief market in the North. When the Bloomsburg and Sullivan Road is extended through a pretty direct line will be formed in connection with the Northern Central to Baltimore and the South. The distance to Baltimore from Bernice will be fully 150 miles shorter than the present route. In fact there is no coal sent there now, as the distance is so great that the cost of transportation is practically prohibitory. It is expected that a market for Bernice coal will be developed in the South, and the whole tonnage will pass over the Bloomsburg and Sullivan. Before reaching Bernice the road will pass through an immense tract of timber land of about 100,000 acres, which is a primeval forest. The trees are represented to be of enormous girth and are expected to furnish a large and profitable tonnage for the road. The grades are very favorable for transporting this tonnage at a low cost. Work on this extension will be begun before the end of the year.

Paying Election Bets.

A considerable amount of money changed hands in Bloomsburg on the election, and the losers pretty generally notified the stakeholders last week, Friday, to pay over the money to the winners. A large number of silk hats will adorn the heads of lucky betters; one young man will pay a month's board for a republican friend. On Monday night a great deal of amusement was created on Main street by a procession formed at J. Saltzer's. Mr. Saltzer appeared in full Republican Club uniform, and took his seat on a wheelbarrow decorated with two torches and two flags. F. B. Hartman was the wheeler, and he started up the street with his load, surrounded by a big crowd of boys. At each corner Mr. Hartman who is a staunch democrat, was obliged to stop and say, "Hurrah for Harrison," that being one of the conditions of the bet.

Just behind this party came an immense wheelbarrow containing William Shutt with a flash light torch, Lee Harman furnished the motive power. Mr. Harman wore his high Cleveland hat draped in black. The boys persisted in getting in front of the barrows, and placing big sticks before the wheels, and the result was that the occupants were frequently dumped out. In front of Caldwell's Hotel, and at Keller's store where Mr. Hartman is employed, red lights were burned, and the street was brilliant and noisy.

G. M. Lockard has a similar bet to pay, in which Joseph Ralston will be the passenger.

Notice to Collectors and Township Officers.

An act of the Legislature and approved June 2nd 1881, (See pamphlet laws, page 45) requires tax collectors, township and borough officers to make return of seated and unseated lands upon which no property can be found from which to make taxes to the County Commissioners on or before the first day of January next, with a sufficient description by boundaries or otherwise, of each separate lot or tract and about the quantity of the same. Those who fail to make returns by said day will be held for such loss. Taxes so returned become a lien against the property so returned. We have blanks on which these returns are to be made and will furnish them upon application of collectors.

It is the duty of each School Board, Supervisor, and Overseer of the Poor to see that these taxes are returned.

J. D. BODINE, Com's. Clerk.

Nov. 16 7w.

Boils, carbuncles, and other skin eruptions indicate that the system is endeavoring to reject poisonous acids, and that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is imperatively needed. It is the most reliable of all blood medicines. Ask your druggist for it, and take no other.

Court Proceedings.

The court met at 12 o'clock noon on Thursday, Nov. 8, for the purpose of counting the vote.

Judge McHenry presided, Judge Murphy being unavoidably detained.

G. M. Quick and S. N. Walker were appointed clerks. The official result appears in the table elsewhere.

D. R. Coffman was appointed Congressional return judge, and G. M. Lockard Judicial return judge.

Nov. 14. An adjourned court was held for motions and arguments. Judge Hinckley filed opinions in the following cases:

U. A. Smith vs. W. B. Cole, rule continued to Dec. 3, testimony to be taken in meantime; estate of E. Peterman, auditors report confirmed; Hill vs. Hill, divorce refused.

S. Dresher vs. B. & S. R. R. Co. amendment allowed.

Estate of Mary N. Harman, additional exception to auditor's report filed.

G. W. Ash appointed guardian of Amy F. Ash.

C. W. Ammerman appointed guardian of Lizzie Coleman.

Petition of B. F. Zarr, guardian of Carlton A. Caswell for order to invest money, filed.

Estate of John Runyan, petition for appraisers filed.

Morris & Lewis vs. A. J. Evans, judgment for plaintiffs for $1126.17.

J. H. Albright vs. J. C. Karns, rule to show cause why judgment should not be opened.

Estate of Peter Helwig, rule on David Helwig to show cause why an attachment shall not issue.

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring buzzing sound are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the peculiar medicine.

Council Proceedings.

NOVEMBER 8, 1888.

Regular meeting. Present, P. S. Harman, president, and members Wolf, Ringler, Cadow and Wells.

On motion J. D. Shaffer was elected as sistant policeman.

On motion the following building permits were granted:

H. G. Ort, stable; Harman & Hassert, machine shops; Dr. J. J. Brown, dwelling house; Bartley Albertson, dwelling-house and stable; C. B. Robbins, dwelling-house.

An application was presented by G. B. Martin to move weigh scales six feet further into Light Street road. Referred to committee on streets, etc.

The bond of M. C. Woodward, collector, was on motion received and approved.

The sanitary committee reported the premises of S. C. Shives, occupied by J. W. Gibbs, to be in an unhealthy condition. Referred to the board of health.

The contract with C. W. Miller for construction of sewer was on motion unanimously approved.

On motion the commissioner of highways and town engineer were directed to examine the run from the canal to the point below where it seems to be so obstructed as to prevent the free flow of water and to take such steps as are necessary to effect a free flow.

On motion the report of committee on highways and bills and accounts were read, approved and secretary directed to issue orders for the same.

On motion it was ordered that the committee of highways notify C. W. Miller to stop shipping limestone spawls until further notice.

On motion council adjourned.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, NOV.12, 1888.

The 50 cent stuffs at a couple of counters. More than two hundred and fifty styles and colorings. All-wool, good weights, and designs as rich perhaps as you'll see in the costliest goods. Many of them were 60 and 65c. since frost; none that wouldn't be big value at more than half-a-dollar. Here are some of them:

French Ottoman Foulé, 12 shades.

Ladies' Habit Cloth, 51 inches, 23 shades.

French Serges, 40 inches, 10 shades.

Cashmere Serges, 38 inches, 10 shades.

Extra Weight Serge, 52 inches, 8 shades.

French Basket Cloth, 40 inches, 12 shades.

Self-Colored Checks, 40 inches, 18 shades.

Armure Rayé, 40 inches, 12 shades.

Basket Weaves, 40 inches, 12 shades.

Satin Berber Stripes, 40 inches, 12 shades.

Diagonal Stripes, 40 inches, 8 shades.

Wave Woven Stripes, 40 inches, 10 shades.

Foulé Serge, 38 inches, 10 shades.

Prunella Serge, 38 inches, 10 shades.

Silk Check Tricots, 36 inches, 9 shades.

Beige Mixed Cloths, 40 inches, 7 shades.

Silk Illuminated Plaids, 36 inches, 10 shades.

WANAMAKER'S.

A dress pattern of either for $3 or $4! We have never known a time when you could pick from such a moneyful range of 50 cent stuffs.

One of the toughest stuffs you'll come across. Hard, wiry, springy to the touch, and yet soft and yielding enough to drape gracefully. For knock-about wear, but neat and modest. We never heard of it for less than 37½ c. The price today is 25c. In checks and small plaids, dark effects.

In all the crowded Dress Goods there's no kind completer in its way than stuffs for Second Mourning. They are at the Black Goods counter, a storeful by themselves. We have given more thought to them than ever. More styles, more that are very modest priced. Half-a-dozen to set you thinking of all:

Serge, broken hair-line cluster stripes, 50c, four styles.

Serge, graduated cluster stripes, 65c.

50-inch Serge, 2 styles, hair-lines ¼ and ½ inches apart, 65c Scarce; desirable, and worth 75c as the market goes.

52-inch cloth in checks and plaids, 75c; 4 styles. A little finer, $1.

Stripes, ombré stripes and checks, with plain to match, 85c.

Camel Hairs have again come to be one of the most fashionable Blacks for ladies' wear. The genuine Camel Hair softens and betters with use almost to the end. How shall you know the genuine? Buy of a reputable dealer. Then you're safe; his guarantee will be behind it. If you wish to lean on your own wit, here's a hint: They say real Camel Hair—the hanging hairs—takes a jet black, while the blackest of the make-believes has a grayish cast.

Glance at a flight of dainty Handkerchiefs for Women that has just lighted on the counters. Sheer, clear, and as gracefully beautiful as if touched by fairy fingers. Sheen of silk and airiness of a spider's web. Not overloaded with embroidery—the white snowy as their own Swiss mountain tops. These begin at $1.25 (commonly $2.50) and run to $3.50. Some of the others:

Irish Linen, scalloped and embroidered, or hemstitched and embroidered, pure white, 25c to $1.50.

Plain white, hemstitched, 6 to 35c.

Printed, hemstitched, 75c a dozen.

Printed and embroidered hemstitched, 12½c each.

Embroidered and hemstitched, 12½c each.

In Men's Handkerchiefs:

Men's three-quarter, hemstitched, ¼ and ⅜ inch hems plain or printed, $1.50 a dozen.

A special importation of Men's three-quarter hand hemstitched Handkerchiefs; very scarce goods, $6, $7.50 and $9 a dozen.

Dozens of other sorts, including French Novelties up to 75c.

And we've only heard the first note of the Handkerchief song.

B. FR

The Republican Restoration.

Is is unfortunate, from every point of view, that the Republican regime should be restored after an interval of only four years. The highest welfare of the country required that the change decreed and the forms demanded by the people in 1884 should be carried to their logical conclusion. That they have not been and that the old order of things is to be revived are due to the mistakes and blunders of the Administration and the dilatoriness of the Democrats in Congress.

The election shows that New York is still a Democratic State. The polling of New Jersey and Connecticut and the large Democratic gains on the popular vote in other States prove that Tariff Reform is a popular issue. But the issue was sprung either two years too late or one year too soon. The Presidency was sacrificed by this blunder, and the loss is the more aggravating because of the accompanying demonstration that the Democratic party is stronger with the people than it was four years ago.

But though defeated the party is not dismayed. Democratic principles will triumph in the next campaign. This election was simply thrown away. The re-election of Gov. HILL in this State, a candidate thoroughly acceptable to his party and calculated to arouse enthusiasm of Democratic voters, warrants the belief that under proper conditions the Democracy can reclaim the Presidency in 1892.

It is a mitigation of the defeat to know that the successful candidate is a man of the highest personal character and of respectable qualification for the office. Gen. HARRISON is a better man for President than any candidate who has been selected by the republicans since LINCOLN. It is a matter of grave doubt, however, whether he has the force of character to enable him to conduct his Administration free from the demoralizing influences of the degenerate politicians who have succeeded for the most part to the former statesmanlike leaders of the Republican party.

We have full faith that the Democratic defeat is only temporary. The party is right, and in a government of the people the right will prevail. —World.

A Cobra's Vengeance.

A SUPERSTITION THAT THE HOODED SNAKE NEVER FORGIVES OR FORGETS.

Andrew Fisher, an employe of the Madras Railway Company, was seated in the verandah of his bungalow and observed two large cobras on the barren plain immediately in front of the house. Arming himself with a stout stick, he proceeded to the spot and encountered the snakes. He succeeded in killing one of them, while the other which had been slightly wounded, managed to escape.

Mr. Fisher hunted about for the runaway, but could not find it. He then returned to his bungalow and rested for some time, as he was off duty. Later in the day he prepared to go to his work and with that object got out his clothes to dress. He sat on his cot and was about to put on his shirt, when he felt something bite him on the back. He turned around, and to his horror he found a snake on the cot beside him, which he is said to have recognized as the cobra he had wounded that morning. He immediately sought medical relief and all kinds of remedies were applied, but to no effect, and he died in the evening.

It is commonly believed among the Hindoos that no animal is more revengeful than the cobra, and that if an attempt was made to kill it and it escapes, it never gives itself rest until it has wreaked its vengeance upon its assailant.—Homeward Mail.

His Wish Was Gratified.

There were lots of negroes on the boat as passengers, and one afternoon as the boat left Baton Rouge a little crowd of us on the promenade deck got to discussing the colored man. The Colonel, who was from Wisconsin, claimed that the reason the white men did not get along better with the colored man was because he did not study his physiogomy. "You just set 'em down as lazy, trifling and dishonest," he said to the Major, who was from South Carolina, "and the good suffer with the bad."

"Do you believe there is such a thing as an honest nigger in Louisiana?" asked the Major.

"Of course I do."

"Could you pick out one in that crowd down there?"

"Certainly I could."

"Well, go ahead for the cigars. Just pick your man, hand him a piece of money, and tell him to walk to the stern post and back and return it."

"Say, Major, there's thirty negroes down there I'd trust with my wallet."

"Very well. We'll go down and you pick one out."

The Colonel passed a dozen before he came to a middle-aged man asleep on a sack of cotton-seed meal. He studied the fellow's face for a long minute and then shook him awake.

"What's de row?" demanded the negro.

"I am going to trust you," replied the Colonel; "I have been looking you over and I know you to be an honest man."

"I ar dat."

"Here's a $20 gold piece. Take it to the stern of the boat, make a wish for one particular thing and bring it back."

The negro seized it and started off, and he had no sooner reached the stern than we heard a great yelling up stairs, followed by the bells to stop the boat. We ran up and there was the Colonel's honest negro between us and the shore, striking out like a whale, and his mouth out of shape with the gold piece stuffed into it. While we were still looking he reached the bank, crawled upon the levee, and then turned and shouted:

"I just dun wished I was ashore, an' yer I am. Good-bye, white folks!"

"Still," said the Major, as he turned to sit down, "the Colonel might try a dozen more and find them all honest."

But the Colonel went off to his state room in a huff.—Detroit Free Press.

A Modern Instance.

"Madame, are you a woman suffragist?"

"No, sir; I haven't time to be."

"Haven't time? Well, if you had the privilege of voting, whom would you support?"

"The same man I've supported for ten years."

"And who is that?"

"My husband."—Nebraska State Journal.

Frank Daggett's Great Find.

IN A PETULANT MOOD HE PULLS UP HIS PICK AND DISCOVERS A GOLD MINE.

From the Prescott (Arizona) Times.

It was on July 3, 1886, that Frank E. Daggett, an enterprising prosector, was climbing the side of Lynx Creek Mountain, about twelve miles east of Prescot. The usual kit of a prospector, consisting of a pick and shovel, were swung over his shoulder. When well up the mountain he stopped beneath the protecting boughs of a juniper tree to rest. He fell into a slumber, and, on awakening, gathered up his pick and shovel to pursue his journey, his objective point being a gold-bearing quartz claim on the other side of the mountain, which he intended to prospect. In throwing his pick on his shoulder it slipped, and, falling behind him, its sharp point struck his leg causing great pain. He picked it up, and, with a vehement oath, stuck it into the ground impetuously, saying it could remain there. Walking on a few steps and the pain easing somewhat, he changed his mind and returned for his pick.

On pulling it up some shining metal was raised with it. He had accidentally struck his pick into a blind ledge, which is known as the Amulet Mine, and from which there has been shipped $50,000 worth of high grade ore. He took in as a partner J. M. W. Moore, an assayer in the district, who has recently purchased the discoverer's interest in the mine and is now sole owner of the property. The main shaft on the property is 160 feet deep.

At the fifty-feet level a drift was run for sixty feet and the ore all stopped out from that up to the surface. At 100 feet drifts were run in both directions, one twenty feet and one fifty feet. There are also two other shafts fifty feet deep and an open cut running from the face of the mountain to one of them about sixty feet. From these openings the above amount of first-class ore has been taken and shipped, the second-class ore remaining on the dump, not bearing transportation. The owner and Charles A. Girdler, a mining expert, visited the property recently and made careful measurement of the dumps, estimating that they contained 2,000 tons of second-class ore.

A ton of it was taken promiscuously and sampled and assayed, giving a value of 35.50 per ton, or an aggregate value of $71,000

The Jury Fixes The Blame.

ENGINEERS AND BRAKEMAN GUILTY OF GROSS NEGLIGENCE.

After three days' session the coroner's jury which had been investigating the recent accident on the Lehigh Valley railroad at Mud Run, by which so many lives were lost, reached the following verdict: "We find that the engineers of locomotives 452 and 466 of the seventh section were guilty of gross negligence. First, in failing to discover the red signal in time, the evidence clearly showing that this signal was in full view as their trains approached, and secondly, for not approaching the station under full control as required by both general and special orders. The evidence also shows that the air brakes of the entire section were under the control of the engineer of locomotive 466, and that he could have stopped the train in spite of the locomotive ahead, 452, we find that the lookout-men of locomotive 452 were guilty of gross negligence in failing to report to their respective engineers the red light at the station as the train approached. The men were placed on their respective engines as an additional precaution, their special duty being to look out for the signals. The lookout man on No. 452 failed to see the signal. The other one on No. 466 testified that he saw it when about fifteen hundred feet from the station and yet he reported all right to the engineer and claims that he did not think that the red light meant anything, as no body used it. We find that the rear brakeman of the sixth section was guilty of gross negligence, for when his train stopped, instead of promptly going back the proper distance to warn the approaching train, he stopped at the station. "There was time enough for him to have gone back nearly half a mile, but he went less than four hundred feet. We find that the conductors of the two sections failed in their duty, the first in not conforming to the rule requiring each conductor to see personally that his brakeman protects the rear of his train, and the second in not requiring his train to approach the station under control."

Tammany True to Cleveland.

Any talk about the selling out of national ticket by Tammany Hall is not only unjust but it is a deliberate and wilful misrepresentation. The returns show that the Tammany vote was cast staight for all the Democratic candidates. In the hour of his triumph last Tuesday night Mr. Grant expressed deep regret at the rumors of Cleveland's defeat and declared that he would rather have been beaten a dozen times over than have lost the national ticket. At the same time he declared that Tammany had done nobly in the national contest, and gave the rank and file of the County Democracy credit for having resisted the attempts of some of their leaders to lead them into bargains against the President and the Govrenor. The votes show that treachery in the County Democratic ranks was confined to the leaders of the organization. Mr Cleveland's increased vote in this city of 13,000 shows conclusively that he was squarely supported here. It is to be regretted that so much cannot be said for Kings county.

——The "drop-a nickel-in-the-slot" racket is worked in all sorts of imaginable shapes in Erastina, where Buffalo Bill's Wild West show is located. It is reported some kind friend from the city decorated one of Buffalo Bill's Indian tepees with a large black letter sign, which read: "Throw in a brick and see an Indian come out."

Wings and Strings.

This is the airy, stinging title of another sprightly amusing book by Palmer Cox. It is one of the QUEER PEOPLE series, and similiar to its companion "Paws and Claws," of which we told you recently. This is one of the funniest and brightest books for youngsters we have ever seen. The illustrations are splendid and will make the boys and girls roar with laughter. The Boston Budget, says: "as a holiday book nothing could be more appropriate, since nothing could confer greater pleasure upon the little ones." The National Republican says: "Every page is a picture and all the text music, a fountain of fun, never ceasing. It will make young eyes blaze." It will certainly be wonderfully popular. It is published by Messrs. Hubbard Bros., of Philadelphia, Chicago and Kansas City, to whom persons desiring a copy or an agency should apply.

Rheumatism

Is undoubtedly caused by lathic acid in the blood. This acid attacks the fibrous tissues, and causes the pains and aches in the back, shoulders, knees, ankles, hips, and wrist. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla a positive cure for rheumatism. This medicine, by its purifying action, neutralizes the acidity of the blood, and also builds up and strengthens the whole body.

She Became Wealthy.

"I was attorney for the —— railroad twenty years ago," said a Detroit lawyer, "and one day went out to settle a loss with a woman. She and her husband had been struck at a crossing, and, while she was badly hurt, he was killed outright and the horses and buggy smashed to pieces. They had the dead wood on us for $15,000, as the engineer did not signal the crossing. I went out to make an offer of about $12,000. The widow was not able to sit up, and I stopped at a store in a village and bought some oranges and lemons and took them up. When we finally got around to the matter of damages she said:

"'Yes, it was a sad thing, and the railroad was to blame, but I don't want to be mean about it. I suppose the president and all of 'em are worried most to death, and I suppose I could stop all the cars from running, but I want to be just. You bringing up that fruit proves how kind-hearted you all are, and if you think you could afford to give me $1,000 I'll sign off.'"

"I made her accept $5,000, and took her the money myself. When she received it she asked:

"'Won't the road be crippled?'

"Oh no.

"'Cars run just the same?'

"Yes.

"'And none of you folks are mad at me?'

"No.

"'Well, then, I'll take it; but if the road should get hard up and want to borrow, it'll find me ready to lend.'"

The Case of the Buried Nanticoke Miners

WILKES-BARRE, Nov. 5.—The cases of the twenty-six miners buried in No. 1 slope of the Pennsylvania Coal Company by the disaster at Nanticoke nearly three years ago were argued before Judge Rice in Chambers to-day. The attorney for the company argued at length that all had been done that could be done, and that it was found by competent engineers and miners that it is a physical impossibility to have the bodies removed from the pit. The attorneys for the relatives claim that it could be done and offered to have the work accomplished, relieving the company from any blame or responsibility in case of any accident. The Judge heard both sides patiently and then took the papers. He announced that he would dispose of the same promptly.

Bad Silver Dollars.

DANGEROUS COUNTERFEITS CIRCULATED IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA.

The Pittsburg Commercial Gazette says: The counterfeit silver dollar has again made its appearance in some of the towns of Pennsylvania, near the New York State line, and also just within the counties along the boundaries of that State. United States detective McSweeney left for the upper oil country on Saturday, but he refused to talk about the object of his mission to the locality. He acknowledged that counterfeit coin was being circulated in various parts of the State, but he would not state whether he had any knowledge of the identity of the persons who were making and circulating the bogus money. He said, however, that highly important developments might be expected in about two weeks.

It was learned from another source that Chief Bell, of the Secret Service Department, had detailed four men to look after a number of Pennsylvania counterfeiters who were circulating bogus silver dollars in Buffalo, Erie, Jamestown, N. Y., Corry, Pa., Oil City, and among farmers who reside in the vicinity of these towns and cities. The counterfeit, it is said, is the finest ever turned out of an illegal mint in this country. It is the exact weight, perfectly moulded, and could only be distinguished from the genuine by experts. The greasy appearance so apparent in other bogus coins is absent in the latest issue.

These coins are differently dated, but they are both of the same issue. The change in dates was done for the purpose of more readily deceiving tradespople. The factory where this very dangerous "queer" is turned out is supposed to be in the neighborhood of Girard, Pa., but on this point the secret service officers are very reticent.

People Pay Heavy Bills

For medical attendance and medicine. Sickness is expensive, and those with small incomes feel this burden keenly. The physician must sometimes be called but he is not needed one-tenth as often as many think. What is required is a family medicine; one that will relieve and cure those ailments which are liable to come at any season and to attack both sexes and all ages. Amid the host of articles that are offered to the public for this purpose nearly all are useless or worse than useless. It is no vain boast to say that the medicine herein mentioned is of a very different character. What it has done is known to multitudes of persons whom it has cured of weary and painful diseases. It has saved time, money and many dear and precious lives. Now please understand that as the life is in the blood so disease and death are in the blood. Get the poison out of the blood and life and health at once return to every part of the body. Dr. Brown's Sarsaparilla does this work quickly and surely through its direct and positive action upon the stomach, bowels, kidneys, liver and skin. For all waste and corrupt elements must be cast off by means of these channels. Rheumatism, scrofula, bronchitis, gout, consumption, malaria, catarrh, hay fever, all skin affections and eruptions are diseases of the blood.

Mr. Geo. H. Wish, of the firm of Thaxter & Wish, Bangor, Me., was afflicted with a scrofulous humor which caused troublesome sores upon both his legs. Many remedies were used and several physicians consulted, without result. After taking Brown's Sarsaparilla a short time he was better, and soon the eruptions disappeared and he is now all right. This is only one of a thousand victories gained by

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative dose of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

A Joke on Hewitt.

A practical joke was played on Mayor Hewitt, of New York, the other week. He received a letter whose writer complained that a "gang of thieves and murderers were infesting the block bounded by Centre, Leonard, Elm and White streets and that a citizen couldn't go through that block at night." Mr. Hewitt referred the letter to Captain McCullagh with the usual direction. The Captain made prompt reply. He said "the charge was true," but added that "the thieves and murderers were all under lock and key. They were in the Tombs."

An Old Nurse's Thirty Years Experience.

An old nurse of 30 years experience says that she has never used a wine that has had such a pleasing effect on her patients as that made by Mr. Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J. It is a pure article and people have confidence in it. Ask any noted physician. For sale by druggists.

It is the experience of publishers that too many people are apt to think it matters but little whether the newspaper bill is promptly paid or not—that is a small sum and is of but little consequence. This is not because subscribers are unwilling to pay, but rather because they are negligent. Each one imagines because his year's indebtness only amounts to a small sum, the publisher cannot be much in want of it, without for a moment thinking that the income of a paper is made up of just such small amounts, and that the aggregate of all subscriptions is by no means an inconsiderable sum of money.—Ex.

A GENTLEMAN WELL KNOWN and largely engaged in the drug trade remarked: "POND'S EXTRACT is a priceless remedy for piles. I have been fifteen years a martyr to them. I suffered every thing but death. I tried all the most celebrated doctors, and look here," said he, as he opened a closet containing hundreds of empty bottles and boxes, "I took and applied all that cupboard and trash without benefit. Nothing helped me until I found POND'S EXTRACT, and that cured me. I have now been well for years, but I keep that closetful of all the old bottles to show how much a man may suffer and take." Like other good things, POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. Avoid these worthless Imitations.

Common Sense.

Should be used in attempting to cure that very disagreeable disease, catarrh. A catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do no permanent good. The common-sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla. That this peculiar medicine does cure catarrh is shown by the many testimonials from people who have found relief upon using it when all others had failed. A book containing statements of cures sent on receipts of two-cent stamp, by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

The Jabberwock.

The Paupack creek in Pike county, Pennsylvania, is the dwelling place of a monster more wonderful than the sea serpent, if one can believe the stories told by the people in the vicinity. They describe the beast as having a head like an ape and square shoulders like a human being. From the shoulders of the creature there extend legs or arms, which terminate in great claws. The body of the monster, which is fully six feet in length, is of a reddish-brown tint, very like that of a lizard, and terminates in a tail like that of a fish. The creature's body is bare of any covering, but about the head and neck is a mane of reddish hair. It is needless to say that the county is excited over the strange animal. Various parties surround the creek each day in hopes of capturing the beast, but up to the present time their endeavors have not been crowned with success.

The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—Seven years ago I contracted an exceedingly bad case of blood poison. I tried a physician, the best at command, but secured no benefit. My throat began to get sore, and my body covered with sores and ulcers. Going from bad to worse, I felt that my grave must be reached in the near future. I gave up the doctors' treatment, and with a despairing hope I commenced taking your medicine. I began to improve from the first bottle, and in a short time the ulcers healed, and my skin cleared off and was entirely well.

One year ago a case of catarrh developed in my system. The physician did his best, but could not cure me; but two bottles of Swift's Specific gave me permanent relief.

MASON & HAMLIN

The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world.

Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition with best makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues FREE. PRICES $22 TO $1000.

ORGANS

Mason & Hamlin do not hesitate to make the extraordinary claim for their pianos, that they are superior to all others. They recognize the high excellence achieved by other leading makers in the art of piano building, but still claim superiority. This they attribute solely to the remarkable improvement introduced by them in the year 1883, and now known as the "MASON & HAMLIN PIANO STRINGER," by the use of which is secured the greatest possible purity and refinement of tone, together with greatly increased capacity for standing in tune and other important advantages.

EPP'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half pound tins, by Grocers, labeled thus:
